LYDDON TERRACE - UNIVERSITY OF LEEDS

Total refit and remodeling of university lecture rooms and teaching spaces

Fitting out a 19th Century building on a live university campus with state of the art technology for today's higher education clients was a welcome challenge.

Client: University of Leeds
Value: £1.5m

The majority of the work was done during the summer break with rest being completed once the new academic year had started. Arranging deliveries, managing noise, dust and waste disposal when in the centre of the university required significant logistical intelligence. Completed on time and on budget with a range of variations successfully incorporated into the project.
